Lighting Helps Landscaping

Carefully tended gardens and landscaping projects can be given a new and dramatic dimension with outdoor lighting, says Miss Ruth Jamison, home economist at VPI.

Light, the most easily controlled decorating effect known, can be used to bring out qualities of form and texture in gardens, landscaping, and trees, she says.

The amount of outdoor lighting used in gardens depends on the individual. He can put as much or as little money into it as he finds convenient or desirable. As with most decorating problems, outdoor lighting for gardens depends on the rules that anyone should follow to work out an effective lighting plan.

The first thing to decide is the kind of effect desired. If you want to simulate a moonlit scene, you can do it with soft light coming from above and spread over the entire area.

To create dramatic effects with one flower bed, shrub, or tree, use a high decgree of brightness, with the object spotlighted. Surrounding lighting in this case should be more general and less brilliant.

Form and texture can be controlled with light. A head-on floodlight will create a flat effect. Light coming from both sides will bring out the dimensions of the shrubbery or plant. To dramatize texture, Miss Jamison says, the light should shine across the surface.

A wide variety of lighting equipment, ranging from simple spotlights on the end of an extension cord, to elaborate systems using underground wiring, is available.

Any well-stocked lighting-fixture dealer can easily supply most of the equipment needed for garden lighting.

If you contemplate installing an extensive system, Miss Jamison advises a call to lighting specialists from your local electric power company for guidance.

JACK SLIPS, BOY KILLED

Catonsville, Md.- David Whiteside, 17-year'old high school student, was killed recently when he was pinned upder a car that fell from its jack. The accident occurred in the boy's back yard where David had jacked the car up, taken its wheels off and crawled under it to do some repair work. The car fell on the boy's chest and he was dead on arrival at a hospital.

KILLED BY OWN CAR

Wheaton, Md.- Mrs. Gloria Connor, 30, parked her car in a parking lot. As she walked away, someone called that her car was coasting away from its parking space on slight incline. She ran back to the car and opened the door on the driver's side. The car picked up momentum, knocked her to the ground and passed over her body, killing her.

A. H. S. Seniors Report on Trip To New York City

By
Frank Hanenkrat

Sixty-five seniors of the Appomattox High School boarded a Trailway bus about 5:30 Wednesday morning, May 1. Twelve hours later we took our luggage into the lobby of the Hotel Bristol in New York City, and began scouting around for a meal. Thus began four of the most interesting days in our lives. As soon as we had returned to our hotel after dinner, we were rushed away to Radio City Music Hall. The main auditorium in itself was a spectacle worth the price of the tickets. Sixty-five amazed seniors sat and drank in entertainment from excellent performances on screen and on stage. A huge organ and an orchestra provided music.

The next two days were equally fascinating. We had already driven along the bottom of the Hudson River (through the Lincoln Tunnel, that is), and now we experienced the giddy feeling of shooting upward at the rate of 81 stories in 60 seconds, up 1,250 feet to the top of the Empire State Building. When an elevator ride makes your ears pop, that's some elevator ride. We crawled along at over 60 miles an hour in subways that wound under colossal buildings built on shock absorbers. Yes, I said shock absorbers, to muffle the shock and noise of subways.

[illegible]e saw multi-million dollar mansions on Park Avenue, home of celebrities. We saw the Bowery, New York's skid row, where men go to forget and to be forgotten. A hotel room can be had there for as little as 25 cents a night.

Among the many towering skyscrapers, the United Nations Building was perhaps the most beautiful. Taken through by guides from foreign nations, we visited chambers where the fate of the world is determined.

In sharp contrast to the hurry and noise of the city was the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine. Looking down an aisle 600 feet long, and standing under a roof 120 feet high, we looked at shafts of light that streamed through stained-glass windows over three stories high. It seemed even more awesome when we later entered a little Buddhist temple located in Chinatown.

New York, the Babylon of the 20th century, it is called. In it, anything can be found. Within two blocks of our hotel, located near Broadway, marquees advertised names like Louis Armstrong, Cecil B. DeMille, and Eugene O'Neill. There is entertainment to suit anyone's taste; there are bigger churches and more sin in New York. It is big in every way. And its call is big, too.

When we arrived in Appomattox early Sunday morning, I said, and many others said, "Someday I'm going back . . to New York."

Colored Dots

An overflow crowd attended the regular preaching service and rally at the Zion Baptist Church last Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. H. J. Hendricks preached a special sermon. The church choir rendered special music. The following individuals and auxiliaries of the church reported the following amounts, according to Mrs. W. O. Smith, church clerk: Samuel Braxton, $180.80; Misses Mary Mack, $166.00, and Lillie Johnson, $160.25. The Sunday School, $200.00; Men's Club, $110.00; Ladies Aid, $105.00; Missionary Society, $100.00; Pastor's Aid, $56.00; Choir, $25.00; Friends, $2.95. Grand total of $1,100.00 was reported.

Plans are completed for the annual Mens celebration of the Gallilee Baptist Church on the third Sunday night in this month at 8 P. M. Music will be furnished by the Gospel Four of Lynchburg. The public is invited to attend.

A large crowd attended the regular preaching services of the Gallilee Baptist Church last Sunday morning. The pastor preached a special sermon from the subject: "The Peace the Christ Left." All present enjoyed the message. The church choir rendered special music. One member was added to the church by letter.

The public is invited to attend Mother's Day services at the Mount Shiloh Baptist Church this Sunday morning at the regular preaching hour.

The choir festival held at the Promise Land Baptist Church last Sunday was a success. The program was sponsored by Miss Mattie Fleshman for the benefit of the church. A total of $32.00 was reported. Special music was rendered by the Mount Shiloh and Gallilee church choirs. Deacon William served as master of ceremony. The offering was taken by deacon Beasley of Gallilee and deacon Emmette Fleshman.
